

I-Hunt Comes to Stocks in the Future Spring 2012

An exciting mini course will be offered to seventh and eighth graders spring 2012 called I-Hunt! This will be a very special way Stocks in the Future students can learn about investing. Currently, all SIF students can choose from 9 stocks on Nasdaq and the Dow Jones. With the help of Deutsche Bank, we've selected a new segment for the 2012-13 school year which will be the automobile industry. Marcus Aiello, Regional Executive from Deutsche Bank Alex Brown led a team of his staff members to investigate some new options. He states, "We thought the automobile industry would be most interesting for the students to learn about because these are things we see every day on the street, things their parents own, things the students will most likely own in the future."

Over the course of 5 weeks, students will get to learn about five companies related to the automobile industry; Ford, General Motors, Tesla, Harley Davidson and Goodyear. Each week students get to vote on their favorite company and in the end will choose a new investment option for the next school year and the winning company gets added to the SIF portfolio. We're excited for the results! Which company do you think it will be? Stay tuned – in May we'll announce the results!
